Chromatography

Our extensive chromatography range consists of various types of vials (from micro to EPA vials) with matching crimp caps, screw caps, snap caps and separate inserts too. We also supply complementary products like racks, cappers and decappers.

Dispolab is continually striving to expand the range of products we supply in relation to sample preparation too. We are most proud of our solid phase extraction column, which we have developed for mineral oil analyses.

If you would like more information, or have questions about any of our products, please do not hesitate to contact our Account Managers!
